

URED-1201
Basic Principles of Islam
FINAL SUGGESTION

1. Ibadah

Ans: The word 'Ibadah' an Arabic word, came from its root word 'abd. Generally it means slave, full time servant or to serve.

Ibadah also means submission, obedience, service, worship etc.

Shaykhul- Islaam Ibn Taymiyyah said, "Worship is obedience to Allah by following that which He ordered upon the tongues of His Messengers." Finally we can say that, Ibadah refers to the Five pillars of Islam & other acts, such as supplications & Remembrance, that have a specifically ritual & devotional nature. Allah ordered us to worship of Him. He said, "I created Jinn & human kind only for worship of me."

❖ Question:" I created not jinn and mankind except that they should worship me" explain this ayat mentioning the objectives of 'Ibadah' elaborately?

Objectives/Purposes of "Ibadah"

'Ibadah' is the ultimate goal & only purpose of creation & its main objective is to attain Allah's satisfaction who is our Lord, our Sustainer. The following purposes persuade man to worship & serve Allah (SWT) :

1. Greatness of Allah : When man sees the greatness & magnificence of Allah, he unconsciously feels humble and weak before Him & worship Him.
2. Feelings of dependence on Allah: Our very existence depends upon the will of Allah & we need Him all the time. This feeling of need & deficiency urges men to worship Allah.
3. Awareness of blessings : Man loves to possess & enjoy blessings. Remembering the abundant blessing of Allah can be the strongest motive for worshipping Him.
4. Human nature : Worship is an instinctive & integral part of human nature.
5. Nourishment for the soul: Ibadah is nourishment for the soul, just like food and drink are for the body.
6. To attain Allah's satisfaction & get reward of Allah in Akhirah : The main aim of Ibadah is to attain satisfaction of Allah. It also denotes seeking paradise and deliverance from hell-fire.
7. Development of men's conscience : Worship is the only means for the proper development of man's conscience. It is the only source of good manners.

8. To be successful : A believer can perform Ibadah to be successful because it is the sign of success as Allah said: The believers must win through, Those who humble themselves in prayers, Who avoid vain talk, who are active in deeds of charity.

Types of Ibadah

There are different types of 'Ibadah' according to the different scholars described in below!

A. Some scholars state that "Ibadah is of two types."

1. Ibadah maqsudah e.g. salah, is an act pole of worship which is done only for the purposes of tahwab
2. Ibadah gayr maqsudah. e.g. wudhu, is an Ibadah which is performed for two reasons. To gain tahwab & to fulfill a condition for another Ibadah.

B. Some scholars categorized Ibadah into two kinds. ibball murabrog nos roveiled A

1. Ibadah Mahdhah: Means pure slavery wherein ot only an inter- slave relationship with Allah directly. ow
2. Ibadah ghairu Mahdhah. It is not just püerely related to Allah, as it has a relationship of a slave with Allah s also it has a interaction with Other creatures.

C. According to Imam Ibnul Qaiyim, it is divided into four categories:

1. The Jawl (sayings) of the heard.
2. The amal (action) of the heart.
3. The sayings of the tonguest.
4. The actions of the limbs.

Conditions of Ibadah

Main conditions of Ibadah in Islam are of three kinds:

1. Al-Iman: Iman is to believe firmly by heart without any doubt in Allah, His angels, His books as completed by the Quran, His prophets and proved in work.
2. Al-Ikhlās: Ikhlas is intending to practice all works only to get satisfaction of Allah.
3. Approved by Shariah: Ibadah would be practice by direction of shariah, by following the way of prophet Muhammad (SAW).

Secondary condition:

1. Earning a lawful income
2. To refrain from ria.
3. To avoid great sin Nobility in deeds.
4. Nobility in deeds.

5. Seeking favor from Allah.
6. Giving people their rights.

Characteristics of Ibadah in Islam

- a) First characteristic: Free from Intermediation Islam has liberated worship from the bondage of intermediaries between man & his creation. No one is considered to be entitled to accept or reject acts of worship on behalf of Allah. Allah (SWT) ordered us to perform Ibadah' directly without making any media. There is not a single verse of the Holy Quran or sunnah be found where Allah permitted to seek any person as intermediary during offering "the acts of Ibadah. Ibadah is only fore Allah the One, inclusively & exclusively.
- b) time, but Islam is not limited to any place, duration, race or community. Thus all activities of Islam are not confined to specific time and places except a few acts like acts of obligatory salah & hajj.
- c) Third characteristic: All- embracing view. Thirdly, Islam has also considerably widened the scope of worship. In Islam, worship is not confined to specified prayers & Litanies, which are to be performed on particular Occasions. Rather, Islam considers every virtuous action, which has been sincerely performed, and with the view to carry out the commandments of Allah & in order to seek His pleasure, an act of worship for which man will be rewarded.

Islam defines poverty based on an individual's failure to fulfill any of the five basic human requirements of life. That is:

1. Religion
2. Physical needs
3. Knowledge
4. Dignity
5. Wealth

Islam views poverty as a social problem because the effects are felt in the society as a whole. In Islam, zakah plays an important role in poverty alleviation & socioeconomic development. It attempts to promote an equitable redistribution of wealth & fosters a sense of solidarity among members of the community. The ultimate goals of zakah are to reduce inequality & to establish human rights, social justice & poverty reduction in Muslim communities. This sense of collective responsibility is further reinforced by how Muslims view their within society. It is believed, if the zakah system is enforced in letter & spirit, then extreme poverty can be eliminated.
